The Horse and His Boy Chapter 6:

- ❖ Shasta once again finds himself surrounded by dangerous creatures.
Do you think it's a fair assumption for him to make that they are lions? Do you think there is something chasing after him or is this just coincidence?
- ❖ What do you think of the cat? Why does it protect Shasta? How can something so small be a protector?
- ❖ Do you think the cat was right to scratch Shasta when he talked of throwing stones at cats in the past? Why or why not?
- ❖ What do you think of Shasta bargaining to never hurt a cat again? Was it necessary or not?
- ❖ What is it about light that makes us less afraid?
